

Questions and Answers

Q. Are we allowed to use text-to-speech for the project round?

A. Text-to-speech will not be allowed for the project round video.

Q. Does everyone need to be in the video? Be physically present in the video?

A. The judges will be looking for justification for participation from all team members, hence being physically present is not definitely necessary suppose you are looking to create an animation.

Q. One of our groups have decided to create an animation where there won't be anyone physically present in the video, does this mean that everyone in the group will have to narrate in equal duration?

A. It need not be of equal duration exactly. Judges will look at the overall video in grading for 'teamwork' where the penalty for lack of which is imposed.

Q. Is it possible to have just one member doing the voice over while not all are present in the video?

A. It is possible, though the remaining members would have to be seen contributing in other aspects to the final product.
